Putting outcomes into practice: data gathering opportunities

Tracking a client's journey through your organisation can help you to identify information collection points that should inform the way you develop your system.

Copyright: London Housing Federation